Driver Race

Select the race of the driver. This should be the officer's "subjective determination of the race of the person stopped" (625 ILCS 5/11-212). Public Act 97-0396 changed the race categories for the traffic stop study (effective: January 1, 2012). These new categories correlate with the 2010 census data. The race categories are: American Indian or Alaska Native, Asian, Black or African American, Hispanic or Latino, Native Hawaiian or Other Pacific Islander, White. To be consistent with the previous form, the categories will be listed in the following order:

- 1: White
- 2: Black or African American
- 3: American Indian or Alaska Native
- 4: Hispanic or Latino
- 5: Asian
- 6: Native Hawaiian or Other Pacific Islander

Public Act 97-0396 provides a description for each race category.

- "White" means a person having origins in any of the original peoples of Europe, the Middle East, or North Africa.
- "Black or African American" means a person having origins in any of the black racial groups of Africa. Terms such as "Haitian" or "Negro" can be used in addition to "Black or African American".
- "American Indian or Alaska Native" means a person having origins in any of the original peoples of North and South America, including Central America, and who maintains tribal affiliation or community attachment.
- "Hispanic or Latino" means a person of Cuban, Mexican, Puerto Rican, South or Central American, or other Spanish culture or origin, regardless of race.

- “Asian” means a person having origins in any of the original peoples of the Far East, Southeast Asia, or the Indian subcontinent, including, but not limited to, Cambodia, China, India, Japan, Korea, Malaysia, Pakistan, the Philippine Islands, Thailand, and Vietnam.
- “Native Hawaiian or Other Pacific Islander” means a person having origins in any of the original peoples of Hawaii, Guam, Samoa, or other Pacific Islands.

Reason for Stop

This is the initial reason the vehicle was stopped. If a vehicle was stopped for speeding, but the driver was given a citation for no insurance, speeding would be the “Reason for Stop”. Also, if “Moving Violation” is selected as the reason for stop, the “Type of Moving Violation” must be completed. Note: A seatbelt violation is listed as a “Moving Violation”.

- 1: Moving Violation
- 2: Equipment
- 3: License Plate/Registration
- 4: Commercial Vehicle

“Commercial Vehicle” Explanation

Commercial Vehicle has been added as an option for this field. This should be checked when the primary reason for the stop was a violation of rules and regulations related to commercial vehicles. “Commercial Vehicle” should not be selected when the commercial vehicle was stopped for a Moving Violation, Equipment Violation, or License Plate/Registration Violation. For example, if a commercial vehicle was stopped because they look like they may be possibly overweight, then it would be appropriate to select this option. However, if a commercial vehicle was stopped for speeding, then Moving Violation/Speeding should be selected.

Type of Moving Violation (If “Reason for Stop” is Moving Violation)

This field needs to be completed if the reason for stop was a “Moving Violation”.

- 1: Speed
- 2: Lane Violation
- 3: Seat Belt
- 4: Traffic Sign or Signal
- 5: Follow too close
- 6: Other

Result of Stop

This is the most severe outcome of the stop. If a vehicle is stopped, and the driver receives a citation and a warning, “Citation” should be selected. You will only fill out one Traffic Stop Data Sheet per stop (even if they receive several citations, warnings, etc).

- 1: Citation
- 2: Written Warning
- 3: Verbal Warning (stop card)

Beat Location of Stop

Enter the beat location of the stop. This field should indicate where the stop occurred. This is a required field, and entering “0” or leaving this field blank is not acceptable. It is up to the agency to determine the best method to identify location of stop using this field.

SECTION B – SEARCHES

Entering Information about searches

The Illinois Traffic Stop Study (ITSS) includes information about searches conducted during vehicle stops. The law that created the study defined two general categories of search, consent searches and searches by other means. When completing the questions about searches, officers should focus on the principle justification for the search.

Note: If an officer conducts a vehicle consent search he should indicate that the search was based on “consent”. That is, even if there was another type of search conducted on the same stop this will be classified as a consent search. A consent search is a search that is based on a request by the officer to conduct a search and there no other legal or procedural justification for the search. On some occasions an officer may request to consent search a vehicle and the driver denies the request. The officer should complete the form to indicate that consent was requested and denied. However, if a search is subsequently performed based on some other justification, after the consent search is denied, that information should be entered in the appropriate section.

Documenting passenger search information when multiple passengers are searched

If any of the passengers are searched based on a consent search request, the passenger search section should reflect that a consent search was requested, consent was given, and a search was conducted based on “consent”. For example, if there are two passengers searched, and one passenger is searched based on consent, and the other passenger is searched based on means other than consent, this search should be recorded as “consent”.

Officers are required to provide information about the use of police dogs on vehicle searches (Public Act 97-0469). Each time a dog is used to search a vehicle this data should be completed. There may be occasions when the dog is used along with other search strategies. For example, if a person granted permission to conduct a consent search, the officer would complete the appropriate information and indicate that the search was based on consent. If, however, subsequent to that search a police dog was used to search the vehicle that information should be completed. If contraband is found the officer should include that information in the appropriate section. That is, if contraband is located during the consent search it should be included under the consent search section. If, by contrast, it is found based on the dog sniff it should be included in that section.
